

Food Culture

Lin Heung Tea House - 蓮香樓

Tourists can only say that they have experienced Cantonese food culture unless they have tried 'One bowl with two pieces', meaning to sip a cup of tea and eat two pieces of dim sum, in a tea house. Lin Heung Tea House was opened in 1926 and still preserves both Cantonese food culture and Chinese tea culture.

Waiters will not lead you to a table.

It is a tradition to walk in the restaurant and quickly occupy any empty seats. Expect to share table with other customers.

Chinese Tea sets

Pouring tea from a lidded teacup.

High quality tea leaves brewed with traditional tea sets

Experience the traditional tea brewing method and enjoy fine tea with high quality tea leaves and traditional tea set of 30 years which includes lidded teacup, teacup and cup-washing pot. Brew tea by pouring boiling water into a lidded tea bowl. Then, tilt the lid of a lidded teacup and slip water along the side and pour tea into a teacup for drinking.

Dim sums are served on trolleys

Dim Sums on Trolleys

Lin Heung Tea House is famous for its traditional dim sums. Dim sums are all wheeled around on trolleys. Signature dim sums are lotus seed buns and Shaomai with pig's liver. By spending $40-50, you can enjoy a great variety of dim sums.

Location

Walk according to the route provided on the map (red line). You will find a Seven Eleven store. Look for Wellington Street on the left of the store and walk along the street which is surrounded by old buildings. You will eventually find a big sign with the words "蓮香".

Code of ethics for travelers

Choose to be surprised, not disappointed, when places and people do not match your expectations.

Location of Lin Heung Tea House

Suggested Public Transportation Details

Public Transportation		Fee	Time needed
1	MTR	$5.0	Around 15-20 minutes
	Causeway Bay → Central MTR Station, Exit D2
2	First Bus No. 23	$6.9	Around 25-35 minutes
	North Point Ferry Pier → D'Aguilar Street
3	Citybus No. 12M	$4.3	Around 15 minutes
	Admiralty (Tamar Street) → D'Aguilar Street
4	Citybus No. 40M	$5.3	Around 20-25 minutes
	Wan Chai Ferry Pier → D'Aguilar Street

Address: 160-164 Wellington Street, Central
Business Hour: 6:00a.m. – 11:00p.m. (Monday to Sunday)